The sponsorship model was adjusted to maximize revenue opportunities and ensure an excellent experience for sponsors and attendees alike. Cost savings managed by the Meetings department contributed to the overall positive net revenue results for the organization.

Part X, Line 2, FIN 48 Footnote (from consolidated financial statements):

Effective June 1, 2009, The Financial Planning Association, the National Financial Planning Support Center, and the Financial Services Information Company adopted the Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes accounting standard which requires each of the entities to determine whether a tax position (and the related tax benefit) of one of the entities is more likely than not to be sustained upon examination by the applicable taxing authority, based solely on the technical merits of the position. The tax benefit to be recognized is measured as the largest amount of benefit that is greater than fifty percent likely of being realized upon settlement, presuming that the tax position is examined by the appropriate taxing authority that has full knowledge of all relevant information. Based on its continued analysis, The Financial Planning Association, the National Financial Planning Support Center, and the Financial Services Information Company have determined that the adoption of this standard does not have a material impact on the consolidated financial statements and that the organizations have appropriate support for any tax positions taken.

The Financial Planning Association's federal Exempt Organization Business Income Tax Returns (Form 990-T) and the Financial Services Information Company's federal U.S. Corporate Income Tax Returns (Form 112) for 2006, 2007, and 2008 are subject to examination by the IRS, generally for three years after they were filed.
